1. The specification is objected to under 35 USC 112, 1st paragraph in that it contains non-idiomatic expression. For example, in page 4, 3rd paragraph, it states that "the clock with which the production line ejects finished cast parts is determined by the clock with which the core production unit supplies the casting cores produced by it". The meaning of "clock with" is not clear. Further, in page 7, paragraph 7, page 8, last paragraph, what is "cycle clock"? In page 13, paragraph 5, it recites "conveyor section 25". However, the reference numeral 25 in the drawing appears to represent different element. Also, it is not clear what the element "24" shown in the drawing is.

2. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 2, claim 17, line 2, respectively, the expression of "in particular a light molten metal" is deemed to be vague and indefinite in that it is not clear what scope is claimed. In claim 1, last 5 lines, claim 4, last two lines, claim 8, last two lines, claim 17, last two lines, respectively, the meaning is not clear. Also, it is noted that there is no controlling apparatus linking between the core making machine and the demolding unit, it is not clear how the operations of these two units are related to each other. In claim 15, it is not clear what a "movement device" is. It appears to be that neither specification nor drawing shows that feature. In claim 22, the expression of "binding ---- is cancelled" is non-idiomatic.

3. Claim 1-23 appears to contain an allowable subject matter and will be allowed upon the objection to the specification and rejection to the claims supra are overcome.

However, applicant is cautious not to introduce any new matter when amending the specification and the claims.

4. The patents to Larsen, Jensen, Carden and GB 2,047,140 are cited to show the state of the art.
